Police winning city drug factory fight

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

CANNABIS factories found in Milton Keynes have doubled over the last five years.

According to figures obtained by MK NEWS, police closed down 33 cannabis factories in the city between March 2008 and March 2009.

Fewer than half that number were found between March 2004 and March 2005, when 16 were discovered.

Detective Inspector Simon Roberts said: "Even though there is a big rise in the number of factories, this is because the police are working harder against the supply of illegal drugs and, thanks to the communities coming forward with information, we are able to carry out more warrants and close more factories."

Over the past year 3,627 cannabis plants have been seized from homes that have been turned into factories for mass production of the Class B drug.

Five years ago, 1,972 plants were seized.

In December last year a report by Milton Keynes Community Safety Partnership indicated that the city was falling victim to Vietnamese organised crime.

It reported findings from August 2007 to July 2008, which showed 10 factories in Fishermead and four in Bradville.

The report said: "There were 55 offences regarding cultivation of cannabis and the majority of these are linked to the Vietnamese organised groups operating in the UK at the moment.

"The cannabis in these premises is harvested and exported and is not sold locally within Milton Keynes."

Some of the factories have been found thanks to neighbours who have noticed a pungent smell or suspicious activity and reported it to police.

Landlords have also fallen victim as tenants carry out unauthorised renovations of their own.

Booby-trapped doors and bypassing the main electrics, together with hot lighting and cramped sleeping conditions are some of the trademarks.

One landlady, mother-of-three Tracey Joseph, said she was devastated when police raided her property in Westcroft in November and found 500 cannabis plants inside.

"We didn't suspect anything at all so it was a big shock," Tracey said. "The woman who I met was the 'controller' and she had many houses on the go.

"She gave us the money and signed the contract and we never saw her again."

The woman who was looking after the illegal crop was Vietnamese but was never found by police.

She clocked up an electricity bill for £18,000 during her seven month stay.

Tracey has now moved back into the family home and is still working to repair the damage to the walls and ceilings.

She believes that the drug controllers are attracted to Milton Keynes by the large number of spacious buy-to-let properties.

However, police believe they are winning the battle against cannabis growers as this year's figures represent a drop from 2007/2008, when officers discovered 46 cannabis factories and seized 9,226 plants.

Mr Roberts said: "It shows the police are having a very positive impact on the fight against the illegal supply of drugs.

"We encourage residents to come forward if they suspect any cannabis set ups in their area. We will continue to close the cannabis factories down and stamp it out of the city altogether."

Thames Valley Police has advised residents to look out for windows that are permanently covered from the inside, visitors arriving at unusual times, vents protruding through the roof or windows and a pungent smell.

Ban for mum and son dog owners

A MOTHER and son from Conniburrow have been banned from keeping dogs for two years after causing unnecessary suffering to a German shepherd.

Twenty-one-year-old Daniel Ward and his mother Tracey, 40, from Marjoram Place, Conniburrow were sentenced at Milton Keynes Magistrates Court on Friday.

Both pleaded guilty to failing to provide adequate veterinary care to their dog called Brody at an earlier hearing.

Janita Patel, prosecutor, said RSPCA Inspector Dave Braybrooke was called to their address on Tuesday, August 5 last year after receiving allegations in relation to the dog.

He found Brody suffering from a severe flea allergy and scratching furiously.

"It had hair loss over most of its abdomen and rear end... and sore patches on its sides" said Miss Patel.

The court heard veterinary evidence that it had suffered for at least a month.

The defendants, who chose to represent themselves, said they had bought products to treat the flea infection.

Daniel Ward, who swore openly at the RSPCA officer during the hearing, said he had used shampoo that takes a month to work.

"You can't say I did not try anything," he said. "I had just lost my job and could not afford to take him to the vet.

"His hair started coming back then went away again. I didn't want to lose him, he was my dog."

Chairman of magistrates Tim Jenn, sentencing the pair, said: "We accept you did make efforts to treat the dog but it was ineffective. You should have taken it to the vet; it was obvious because of the stress it caused."

Community service: Daniel Ward

Night curfew: Tracey Ward

Daniel Ward was sentenced to 80 hours of community service and must pay £1,233.74 of boarding fees and £600 court costs. An order was made for the dog to remain in the RSPCA's care.

Tracey Ward will serve a curfew for eight weeks, during which she must stay at home between 8pm and 7am, and pay £300 court costs.

Both are disqualified from owning or keeping dogs for two years.

Mr Braybrooke said: "It goes to show that if you get treatments for your dog that aren't working then you must get the animal to the vet. There is a duty of care on the owner. Brody has completely recovered and will be rehomed as soon as possible."

Gatehouse concerns were raised 'time and time again'

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

THE council devoted one and a half hours to a meeting about a special school where children were abused for three years.

A special Learning and Development Committee was called last Wednesday to discuss the independent report which revealed 'abuse in sad and shocking detail' at Gatehouse School, which caters for boys with behavioural difficulties.

It was a chance for author Kathryn Stone, a national and international authority on children's rights, to discuss her report, written after MK NEWS revealed headteacher Suzanne Bell had been suspended in October 2008.

"It seems to me remarkable that you should find yourself writing 'children should not be locked in classrooms with no means of escape'," she told the chamber, discussing this policy and the 'inappropriate restraint' used since 2005.

Parents in the public gallery muttered in agreement as Ms Stone asked: "Why did many of the reported concerns not receive attention and action? Many have said they raised concerns time and time again. This must have been hugely frustrating for children, officers, families and elected members."

Last week MK NEWS spoke to some of the parents who had several meetings with council officers regarding the restraint, but their fears were never taken any further.

Ms Stone said: "The most damning indictment in this entire process is that children have been telling the truth and this hasn't been listened to."

She added: "At the time very few staff received any specialist training. Many untrained staff been employed for a specialist role. Some staff had no proper employment checks carried out on them whatsoever."

This, she said, should be addressed by an action plan, which recommends pupil and staff forums are established and that 'all staff recruited are suitable to work with children'.

Councillors debated at the meeting whether they should have a further meeting on the failures at Gatehouse.

Conservative Cllr Andy Dransfield, who also chaired the meeting, feared that if the issue is 'squeezed into an agenda item we will let down a lot of people'.

Cllr Andrew Geary, Conservative leader, called for witnesses to come forward and his party proposed a future meeting on the subject.

However, the ruling Lib Dems were in favour of simply monitoring the action.

Cllr Jenni Ferrans said: "We're talking about something that's already eight months old now."

Cllr Norman Miles, leader of the Labour group, said: "We can't spend the rest of out lives looking back into this dreadful affair."

Pruning work goes on at the Saxon South roundabout

Call to stop chop

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

TREE lovers have called for the council to axe its felling policy before Milton Keynes' green reputation is destroyed.

Anti-felling feeling is spreading after greenery on several roundabouts, most recently South Saxon, where the H6 meets the V7, has been hacked down.

Trees on the roundabouts, described by some as 'horticultural works of art', are sometimes as old as the city itself.

But the council will not rule out more felling of the city's 22million trees, which it says is a response to car accidents caused by reduced visibility.

Brian Salter, former chief executive of the Parks Trust, has called for a moratorium on tree felling.

He said: "Right from the earliest days of the new city the intention was to provide a green city with lush leafiness where landscape should be all-pervading. The trees on South Saxon roundabout had been planted there more than 30 years ago. That lush leafiness we were trying to create has just been wiped away."

Mr Salter, who was head of forestry and conservation in the Development Corporation, has made a plea to city councillors to 'act for the sake of the city's green reputation'.

Clearer roundabouts, he says, actually encourage higher speeds.

Last month MK NEWS reported that residents of Middleton forced council workers to cease chainsawing on one roundabout.

And the once-leafy Junction 14 is now an 'extension of the motorway' according to Ken Baker, chairman of Central Milton Keynes Town Council and an original city planner.

He believes this all amounts to the 'destruction of the green estate'.

"We need to say a big stop before it is non-reversible and only few saplings remain to be broken and vandalized, presenting a landscape of a characterless wasteland."

Theo Chalmers, founder of city-preservation group Urban Eden, says safety issues do not justify the felling, since reduced visibility actually forces people to take more care.

Kevin Beresford, who produced a calendar of Milton Keynes' roundabouts for four years, added: "They're havens for wildlife and are horticultural works of art. It's a shame they're cutting them down."

In 2007 the Landscape Institute honoured Milton Keynes as the 'City of Trees', while its bid for Millennium Garden City status in 2000 boasted 'spectacular roundabouts'.

A council spokesman said: "There are no specific plans to apply this treatment to other sites at the moment but it remains a possible measure in the future should we identify other sites where we feel that it would be effective in reducing casualties, which remains the primary purpose in clearing any of these sites."

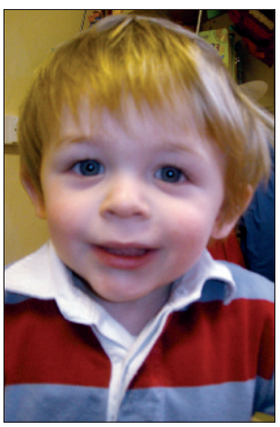
Toddler died in hospital after developing a rash



Sudden death: Daniel Estick

A TWO-YEAR-OLD boy died in hospital a day after a rash was found on his body, an inquest has heard.

Daniel Estick, from Deethe Close, Woburn Sands, was weeks away from celebrating his third birthday.

He was admitted to Milton Keynes Hospital on Friday, March 6 after his parents, Ian and Claire, found him feeling very unwell in the morning.

Mr and Mrs Estick took Daniel to his GP. The doctor was concerned a rash on the toddler's body may have been a sign of meningitis.

He was admitted to A&E and later to the operating theatre ward where he waited to be treated by medical specialists, but Daniel deteriorated and died at 7.15pm.

The cause of death will be investigated in a full inquest in June.

His parents, who own The Plough public house in Simpson, said Daniel was previously very healthy.

Mrs Estick said the rash had appeared the day before he died and he began to feel unwell.

His older brother Jamie, 4, had the same symptoms earlier in the week but had recovered and gone back to school.

The inquest was adjourned until June to await the results of a post-mortem.

Mr Estick told MK NEWS Daniel was a 'lovely lad, loved by everybody'.

"He was such a fun loving child full of life."

"The staff in the hospital were superb," he added.

The funeral will be held at St Michael's Church, Woburn Sands at noon on Friday, March 27.

Station Square a waste of needed space

SIR – I read the Station Square article in last week's MK NEWS with much interest.

I also attended the forum at the OU a few months ago, where traffic and public transport were the hottest topics of the night.

Station Square is the biggest waste of needed space I've seen in a long time and neither of the two new options offer any new, interesting or needed change.

The most irritating thing is why haven't they paid attention to the commuters who use it, do the travellers not count?

Who do the council get to do this 'blue sky thinking' and, more worrying, please tell me the 'not very cheap consultants' aren't being paid for with my hard earned taxes?

If they are, then the public have a right to be involved.

Time and time again we have useless, expensive implemented schemes for wishful thinking initiatives (bus lane anyone?)

You cannot eradicate cars, it is 50 years too late.

The Station Square revamp is one such scheme, that talks of vehicle-to-vehicle and vehicle-to-pedestrian conflict reduction (fewer cars), 'improve pedestrian flow' (fewer cars), more trees (less car parking), more art, bus stops and shelters (less parking and fewer cars).

Option 1 or 2 never mention the word car, the worst thing that can possibly happen to any commuter hub is less parking, it is a nightmare to park there at the present time and the problems will only get worse as the council seek to consign the vehicle to the archives of history.

Rising train fares, inadequate public transport to the and from the station and inappropriate parking will only lead to one thing. People will travel by car.

By adapting this liberalised, undemocratic design you are forcing people away from this square and back onto the roads where they will continue to fight against the enforced reductions in speed limits, traffic lights and bus lanes.

This city was built for the car, all we need now is a council elected that will see that you have to work together and embrace each other.

Marc Whelan
Sent by e-mail

■ SIR – Re Station Square. The one option that seems to have been overlooked in all of this is the simple act of moving the roads that are currently there, so that they are running in the same directions, but at the top of the square, rather than the station end.

The roads seem to function quite well as they are and moving them to the top end of the square would create a much nicer space in front of the station, which seems to be the main aspiration.

Jamie Chalmers

Quality of debate lacking at council budget meeting

SIR – I read with interest all the articles in this week's edition about MKC downgraded to a one-star council by the NAO, an attack on the 'new' station plans displayed for 'consultation' and finally a promise to change the process for adoption of roads and streets rather than how to deal with the current situation.

One of the letters prompted me to go back and read Ms Cunniffe's article on the budget and Mr Maric's response.

I too was present at the budget meeting, sat until about 10pm and was less than impressed by the quality of debate or reasoning.

There was lots of passion about party politics, lots of quips but apart from lip service there was very little real concern or consideration displayed for the residents of Milton Keynes and the challenges they face.

MKC did host an economic debate late last year at the MK Dons' stadium among great gusts of publicity. Nothing since and none of the input appeared in the 'debate'.

I felt there was very little evidence of any serious research into the real needs of Milton Keynes and how to provide those services and a similar lack of evidence of any real understanding of a budgeting process designed to serve those needs.

Perhaps it is time for at least some of those 51 councillors who don't, to understand that they were elected by the people to serve them and not to spout party dogma or paeans of self praise .

More impressive, and certainly much less sleep-inducing, would have been some quality debate and consideration of how to provide for the residents in these difficult times.

It is perhaps time to revisit just exactly what a town council does and should do and build a budget from that point.

Parish councils, in my experience, manage by being apolitical, perhaps it is time for second tier councils to do the same.

Neil Warden
Roeburn Crescent, Emerson Valley

School scandal

SIR – The appalling saga of the Gatehouse School has rightly been well-publicised in your paper.

It was therefore a travesty to see the Lib-Dem and Labour members of the Learning & Development Committee vote against having a further meeting dedicated to the subject.

Despite the horrific events that took place at the school, a big part of the scandal is what took place in the council offices, where concerned parents had their concerns fobbed off, it seems, for months and years on end.

After the scandal of the Giles Brook school-build debacle last year and the long-running shame of this borough's overall educational attainment, we now have kids locked in rooms with no escape in the event of fire.

The only reason the Lib-Dems have got one star for children's services is because there isn't a zero-star category.

It's no wonder the Lib-Dems and their Labour allies want to kick this into the long grass. Parents and voters are beginning to realise how much damage the Lib-Dem administration is doing to our young people.

If your readers want justice, and they want to have their stories heard, I encourage them to contact me or any Conservative councillor.

We know what happened in the school. We need to learn what happened in the council offices and in the cabinet and in the council leader's office.

Cllr John Bint
MK Conservatives

Schools survey

SIR – David Tunney's letter last week is not correct.

The council is required by the Department of Children, Schools & Families to carry out a condition survey of all of its schools every five years.

The last such survey took place in 2004 hence this year's budgetary allocation.

We would have to carry out this survey in any case regardless of whether any Building Schools for the Future (BSF) money is available.

In the event that there is, we have submitted all of our qualifying secondary schools (and special schools with secondary pupils) for consideration, not just Ousedale.

Cllr Sam Crooks
Cabinet member for finance
Milton Keynes Council

So now you know

SIR – We have seen the article on page five of last week's MK NEWS dated and would like to clarify several points for the record.

The headline reads 'One in five jobs to go at Argos'.

This is not accurate, the jobs referred to impact across the Argos, Homebase and group functions based at Milton Keynes head office.

The statement we issued was from Home Retail Group and the Milton Keynes office employs colleagues from three areas of the business; Argos Homebase and group functions.

In the first paragraph you say the staff 'will lose their jobs' this is also incorrect as the employees in question left the business at the end of February 2009, following a consultation period.

Finally, to clarify, the 190 jobs referred to in the second column are jobs announced in January which impacted Argos and group functions, and did not include the Homebase jobs which were announced at the end of 2008.

The 300 total includes both announcements.

Denise Bigwood
Press officer, Home Retail Group

Falling stars

SIR – Our Liberal Democrat Council has reached an all-time low with the award of only a one star rating by the independent Audit Commission (MKNEWS last week).

Such an award brings shame and disgrace on our city and confirms that they are no longer fit for purpose and are, in fact, a failing council.

We have witnessed over the last year a succession of gaffes, mistakes, critical reports and an appalling lack of political leadership.

The Liberal Democrat administration has lurched from crisis to crisis – from the uncertainty about the future of council day nurseries, the failure to send out new bus passes on time, the scandalous school build programme debacle, to the damning report on children's services and the three years of abuse suffered by vulnerable pupils at Gatehouse school, it has presided over a catalogue of disasters.

We wait in trepidation to hear about the next crisis to emerge. How many more will there be before the next local elections?

City's cabbies in threat to strike

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

NEARLY 700 taxi drivers have signed a petition threatening action because they are fighting for trade with 'outsiders'.

Both the Private Hire Association and Hackney Carriage Association have presented a petition of 400 signatures – promising 300 more to come – to the council's regulatory committee complaining of too many taxis on the roads of Milton Keynes.

Their concern is that drivers licensed by South Northants Council are operating in the city.

The Hackney Carriage Association also asks that no more new licences are given out, after seeing an increase in drivers of 20 per cent in 18 months.

Combined with the downturn, Asif Mohammed, chairman of the Private Hire Association, said this excess of drivers means their livelihoods have been doubly hit.

And Mohammed Nawaz, chairman of the Hackney Carriage Association, said they cannot rule out protests or strike action if nothing is done with 28 days.

Mr Mohammed said: "We've had enough of outsiders taking our work. Revenue has gone down and our livelihoods affected. At the end of the day we pay Milton Keynes Council. We're licensed by them – our trade should be looked after. The recession had done quite a bit of damage, so we are struggling for two reasons. Each driver is losing about £150 a week."

Mohammed Khalid and Asif Mohammed with yellow plate petition

Mr Nawaz added: "We need the council to be tougher. With the recession it's very difficult for us to make a living. We are just doing what our members want us to do. If things don't work out, we can't rule out strike action."

Steven Shuttleworth, director of service delivery at South Northamptonshire Council, said: "We want to reassure taxi traders and the public that it is legal for any private hire vehicle which is licensed by South Northamptonshire Council to drive anywhere outside of the district, just as taxi drivers licensed by other councils can trade in South Northamptonshire. If we find drivers acting outside the terms of their licence, we will always ensure that the appropriate action is taken.

"Currently, there are a number of prosecutions pending against drivers licensed by both South Northamptonshire Council and Milton Keynes Council for plying for hire and operating with no insurance."

A spokesman for Milton Keynes Council said: "We regularly carry out operations to catch cab drivers unlawfully plying for hire in Milton Keynes, as this is not only illegal but also potentially dangerous to cab customers."

Discussion of the petition is on the agenda for tonight's regulatory committee at the Civic Offices

RNT picket outside Bletchley train station

Managers 'filling in' on conductors jobs put passengers at risk claims rail union

RAIL union officials claim that passengers were at risk because untrained staff filled in for striking conductors.

The claims come from the RMT union which represents the members of staff who were out on strike on Friday and Monday, over a dispute that means they have to work weekends.

They say that London Midland, who replaced the conductors with managers on services between Northampton and London Euston, put passengers at risk.

While it takes a minimum of 12 weeks to train a conductor, the union says managers have been given short refresher courses.

One driver contacted MK NEWS alleging that a manager acting as a conductor allowed the doors of the back carriages to open in Bletchley, where the platform is not long enough, exposing passengers to the track.

London Midland says that one incident is being investigated but would not say what that incident related to.

RMT spokesman Ken Usher, said: "You need 12 weeks' training – that's the minimum, just to get your competency. It is most definitely a danger to rail users. It's like a pilot who hasn't flown for some time, and only ever flown small aircraft, to suddenly be told to fly a 747."

Another rail worker who contacted MK NEWS said they were 'very concerned for the safety of passengers and staff'.

"These managers have had just three or four days to learn rules, personal track safety, traction knowledge and gain the necessary route knowledge which are all essential in the role of a guard."

A London Midland spokesman said: "We take safety very seriously and would never compromise the safe delivery of our services to passengers."

Crowds gather in Middleton Hall for a silent disco on Saturday

Shoppers' surprise at silent disco

BY ROB GIBSON

rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

SHOPPERS received a surprise performance at the weekend when more than 400 people came together to dance in silence at Middleton Hall.

Organisers used Internet forums and the social networking site, Facebook, to co-ordinate an 'impromptu' silent disco on Saturday.

The silent ravers descended on the shopping centre at 3pm, armed with their earphones and MP3 players.

An hour of 'silent' dancing ensued, to the amusement of bystanders, as friends danced away to their own personal soundtracks.

Organiser Daniel Gee, 21, said: "It was absolutely brilliant. It's free and everyone just turns up at the same time and starts dancing.

"There was even a guy who was about 70 dancing as well.

"He didn't have headphones on, he was just dancing away to nothing!

"It's never been done in a shopping centre before and I thought let's do it, let's make history."

The former Bletchley man was inspired when he stumbled upon a silent disco at Liverpool Street Station in London last year.

The silent disco was invented by eco-activists who wanted to draw large numbers of people into an area that they wanted to protect, without causing any noise pollution.

However, the concept soon became part of mainstream clubbing culture and was adopted by Glastonbury Festival in 2005.

Daniel said he found a sponsor in Milton Keynes and obtained liability insurance, then informed the shopping centre and police of his plans.

"The police, the shop staff and the St John Ambulance crew were all smiling and having fun as well," he said.

Since the event, Daniel has been flooded with messages of thanks and is already planning Milton Keynes' next silent disco for a secret location, this time outdoors.

A handshake secures Bletchley Park future

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A £600,000 handshake has secured the immediate future of Bletchley Park.

The home of Churchill's codebreakers will be refurbished after Milton Keynes Council agreed to match the £300,000 investment from English Heritage.

On Thursday Cllr Vanessa McPake officially announced the deal, alongside Bletchley Park director Simon Greenish.

Cllr McPake, cabinet member responsible for heritage, said: "We're delighted that 73 per cent of residents who took part in the budget consultation said yes to putting money into Bletchley Park."

As previously revealed by this newspaper, the historical buildings and Second World War museum are in desperate need of refurbishment after the huts began to decay.

Churchill's codebreakers were housed in the huts to break German naval codes during the war.

As part of the council's budget consultation, 267 taxpayers supported a £60,000 investment each year for the next two years.

The remaining £40,000 each year will come from Section 106 funds, which the council receives as planning gain from developers.

The same investment will be made during a third year.

Simon Greenish described the contribution as 'a huge part' of getting the site regenerated.

An appeal in this newspaper has helped to raise £2,500 of donations from city residents and a petition to save Bletchley Park broke into the top ten on the Downing Street website.

The trust is now applying to the Lottery Heritage Fund, showcasing its £10million masterplan which details a major restructuring project to create an improved visitor experience.

Station Manager from Great Holm, Paul Harrison said a Land Rover Freelander had caught alight after stalling in a parking bay.

A fire spokesman said: "The vehicle was well alight on the forecourt when the crews arrived and they contained both it to the Land Rover quickly.

"There was smoke damage to the overhead canopy.The power was isolated and the area evacuated."

Hospital probe into nurse and 'affair' with lag

Woman found in 'compromising position' with Woodhill inmate

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A NURSE has been suspended after being found in an alleged 'compromising position' with a prisoner at Woodhill.

A two-month investigation has been launched by the local health service, which employs the woman, after an incident was reported by the jail on Tattenhoe Street.

Ian Bickers, head of security and operations at the prison, confirmed that a nurse has been excluded from the jail after it was discovered she may have been in a relationship with an inmate.

"We ran a whole series of security and intelligence systems within the jail and put an operation in place to put detail around that and to establish if this had taken place," said Mr Bickers.

"We did have a nurse found in a compromising position with a prisoner."

"We believe the relationship existed only for a couple of weeks."

The prisoner, who is serving 18 years for attempted murder and conspiracy to murder, has been moved to another jail.

A spokesman for Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust (PCT) said: "Milton Keynes PCT provides healthcare services for prisoners at HMP Woodhill, which includes primary care, dental services, podiatry, immunisations and care of long-term conditions.

"Milton Keynes PCT was informed by HMP Woodhill that it believed one of the healthcare staff was involved in an incident with a prisoner. The PCT has commenced a thorough investigation, which is expected to conclude within the next two months.

"The member of staff will not be working at Woodhill during the process of investigation."

A Prison Service spokesman said: "A member of healthcare staff has been excluded from HMP Woodhill pending an investigation by her employers, Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust."

Eyes are smiling: Getting into the spirit of things at Bletchley's St Patricks Day parade

The look of the Irish

All dressed up and ready for the parade

Milton Keynes first ever St Patrick's Day took place on Saturday in the sunshine.

A huge crowd led by a pipe band and floats travelled from the Irish Centre in Manor Fields, to the bandstand at Queensway.

At the bandstand they were met by Deputy Mayor Euan Henderson and MP Phyllis Starkey.

The dignitaries were presented with a sprig of shamrock by children in costume (members of the local Irish Dancing Schools).

The fun continued later in the day back at the Irish Centre.

Where's the best place to eat in the city?

ORGANISERS of the Milton Keynes Restaurant of the Year awards, MK NEWS, Kimbells Solicitors and MK Web, have been joined by sponsor Pauley Digital in launching the 2009 awards.

Following the success of the awards in 2007 and 2008, competition to gain recognition for offering an outstanding eating out experience is expected to be even greater than before.

The awards were introduced in 2007 to raise awareness of eating out in the Milton Keynes area and to identify the highfliers amongst our restaurants and eateries.

Venues can be nominated by members of the public and if your favourite restaurant doesn't feature in our list then vote online at www.mkweb.co.uk as all venues are eligible.

From a combination of votes cast by diners between April and June and input from an expert judging panel, the overall winner of Restaurant of the Year will be announced in September.

Pauley Design is an integrated, graphic design and digital media agency formed by Nick Pauley in 1999. Nick and his team have been lucky enough to help local businesses to fulfill their marketing objectives through integrated, cost effective and measurable campaigns ever since. It is because of the support from local businesses that Pauley Design has been so successful in terms of recognition both nationally and internationally.

"Everyone here is passionate about helping growing, local, businesses achieve the very best results possible for their marketing projects both in print and online" said Nick.

"We are proud to become sponsor of the coveted Restaurant of the Year 2009 in partnership with Kimbells, MK NEWS and MK Web as we felt that this fits perfectly with our tenth anniversary celebrations."

Prison visitor had pepper spray

A DISABLED basketball player tipped to compete in the Paralympics was found with a CS gas canister in his pocket entering Woodhill Prison.

Tyler Saunders, 26, who plays for the Raiders Wheelchair Basketball Team in London and trains with the GB squad, was sentenced to a curfew at Huntingdon Crown Court last week after being arrested at the prison on Tattenhoe Street on October 8.

At an earlier hearing, Saunders, who was born with his right leg missing at the hip, pleaded guilty to conveying a 'List A' article into a prison and possession of a prohibited weapon. He was visiting a friend in jail.

CS gas, otherwise known as 'pepper spray', causes a burning pain when sprayed in a person's eyes and is used by police for riot control.

Elizabeth Scriven, prosecuting, said: "As he passed through security he was found to be in possession of a CS gas canister in his pocket."

Defending, Steven Garratt said Saunders carried the CS gas to protect himself and forgot it was in his pocket.

"It was not designed to cause injury to someone... he was carrying the item only for self defence." said Mr Garratt.

"Because of his disability and the life he leads he feels an additional vulnerability."

The court heard Saunders, from Hendon, London, is tipped to compete in the 2012 Paralympics in the capital.

Judge Peter De Mille said: "It is extremely sad to see someone from your background here today charged with what is a very serious offence."

He said the case was 'exceptional' partly due to Saunders' 'positively good character'.

He sentenced Saunders to a three month curfew, ordering him to stay at his address from 8pm until 6am. An exception has been made to allow him to attend basketball training.

He must also pay £470 costs.

Clean up – get the real deal

Spend £60 on real nappies and get up to £40 cash back

IF you are pregnant or have a young child in nappies, Milton Keynes Council's Recycling Team invites you to come along to its annual Real Nappy Baby Fashion Show on April 2 to see for yourself how easy modern real nappies are to use – and how they can save you money.

Our young models will parade the catwalk displaying the different types of real nappies available.

You can get advice from local agents who supply real nappies and talk to parents who are using them with their children.

With many parents feeling the financial pinch, making the switch from using disposable to real nappies is one easy solution.

Each child will have a staggering 4,000 to 6,000 nappy changes from birth to potty. Those using disposable nappies will spend £700 - £1,200 in two and a half years. In comparison, parents using washable nappies will spend between £50-300 on nappies, plus around £200 in washing costs.

Extra savings can be made if the nappies are used for more than one child, and it's possible to resell good quality second-hand real nappies.

Bec Thomas from the national Real Nappy Information Service said: "Parents can save at least £500 by choosing real nappies over disposables and there are further savings to be made when nappies are passed down and used again."

As well as the obvious financial gains of using real nappies, parents are increasingly attracted by the environmental benefits.

A recent Government study that compared real nappies with disposables, found that if washed without tumble drying with an A-rated washing machine with full loads at no more than 60 degrees, real nappies can be up to 40 per cent better for the environment.

As an added incentive for using real nappies, Milton Keynes Council offers a cash-back scheme - for a minimum spend of £60 on real nappies, we give back £35 (£40 for those on benefits). For more information call MK 254593 or visit our website: www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/realnappies.

Alternatively you can make a free call to Go Real – the Real Nappy Information Service on Freephone 0800 328 8175.

Organiser says church rave 'got out of hand'

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A TEENAGER who used Facebook to help organise a party at a church hall which escalated into a drunken rave says things got 'way out of control'.

When police were called to a family birthday party at the Church of the Servant King in Furzton they described the scene as a 'flash mob or rave'.

They reported finding more than 300 drunken teens inside and more than 100 gathered outside, many of whom were under age.

The hall's licence does not permit it to hold more than 200 people.

One neighbour described it as 'total chaos'.

Following last week's report, one of the organisers, 17-year-old Jordan Wellard, explained why things went too far.

Jordan said: "We only invited specific people but I think it spread too quickly

"There was no alcohol on sale but we couldn't stop people coming to the party drunk.

"I thought it would just be another party but it just got way out of control."

He also insisted that there were adults acting as door men and everyone co-operated with the police.

However, the church, on Dulverton Drive, was left with a £3,000 bill for a broken fence and damage to the toilets.

The incident occurred at 8pm on February 28 and police issued a caution to an 18-year-old man.

"I've learned from this party," said Jordan.

"We wanted to do it monthly because we needed something to do.

"I think we need a better place and some actual bouncers.

"We need to be more strict on alcohol."

Biker killed on first ride on new machine

AN inquest has been opened into the death of a motorcyclist killed in a crash in Newport Pagnell.

Ian Beecher, 41, from London Road, Newport Pagnell, was pronounced dead at the scene after his white Honda 1,000cc bike collided with a silver Citroen Saxo on the North Crawley Road on Friday, March 6.

An inquest, opened on Monday, heard Mr Beecher had taken delivery of the new motorbike that morning.

At about 4.20pm he was travelling towards North Crawley when the collision happened and he was thrown from his motorcycle landing on the grass verge.

The incident is under investigation by the police.

Rebecca Daley, Mr Beecher's partner, told the inquest he had saved up for the new bike for six months.

He had two daughters; Charlotte aged 12 and Carys aged three.

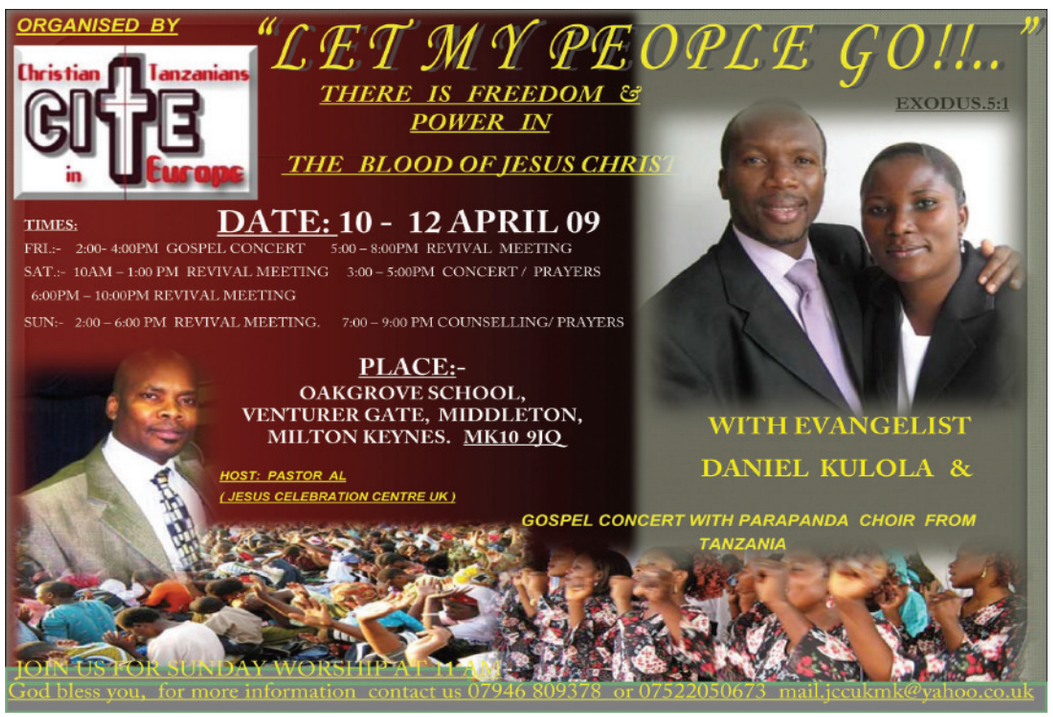
The inquest was adjourned until September.

In a tribute Ms Daley said: "Ian was a wonderful man with a huge heart, who lived life to the full. "He lived for his family and friends and his greatest passion was riding his motorbike."

A 22-year-old woman from Newport Pagnell was arrested on suspicion of causing death by dangerous driving.

She has been released on police bail pending further investigation

Police have appealed for anyone with information to call 08458 505505 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.



Hundreds hear of hate crime at MK conference

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

HUNDREDS of people got together to show that Milton Keynes hates hate crime.

The city's first conference dedicated to discrimination, led by the city's Equality Council last Wednesday, saw a series of speakers covering race, disability, sexual orientation, religion and faith.

They were discussing how the new Anti Hate Crime Group can work to eradicate discrimination.

Paul Giannasi, Superintendent for Police Officers Association, stated that there is massive under-reporting and sometimes zero recording of some crime types.

Sam Dick from Stonewall told the conference: "One in five lesbian, gay and bisexual people have experienced a hate crime or incident in the last three years."

But in Milton Keynes there are now 38 centres to report hate crime.

Navrita Atwal, director of Milton Keynes Equality Council, said: "It is important that we continue to raise awareness that hate crime is bad and can harm society. It can happen in the workplace, service delivery and even in the school playground.

"Sometimes the harm it does can stay with a person for the rest of their lives. We need to put an end of any type of hate crime, bullying and harassment. So it is even more important to report these incidents or at least notify us of what has happened so something can be done about it.

"We need to learn to challenge prejudice and inappropriate behaviour in a very positive way in order to bring change in the society in which we live in today."

MP in move for benefits medical centre in city

A REVIEW has been launched into opening a medical examination centre in Milton Keynes to save people who apply for incapacity benefit having to travel outside the city.

The secretary of state for work and pensions has responded to local MP Dr Phyllis Starkey after she highlighted the problems faced by residents with physical or mental health disabilities who must travel to Aylesbury or Luton for a medical examination.

As reported in MK NEWS previously figures obtained by the MP revealed that all 3,302 people with Milton Keynes postcodes who applied in 2008 for employment and support allowance, which replaced incapacity benefits in October, had to travel outside the city.

Of those 1,685 went to Aylesbury, 1,615 to Luton and two to London. Their transport is paid for by the Government.

Dr Starkey raised this in the House of Commons and last week the secretary of state for work and pensions, James Purnell, said his officials would be writing to Atos Healthcare, which runs the medical examinations service.

"The Minister has now asked Atos Healthcare to work with JobCentre Plus to see whether facilities can be provided in Milton Keynes at JobCentre Plus' premises," said Dr Starkey.

"I will be maintaining pressure for space to be found so that local claimants no longer have to endure bus journeys of more than 1.5 hours but can access the required medical examination in Milton Keynes."

A decision is expected by the end of May.

MK Dons have thrown their support behind the 'Show Racism the Red Card' campaign.

Before their match with Oldham on Saturday Dons players wore shirts to show their stand against racism in the game and in the community.

While chairman Pete Winkelman and his wife Berni led a parade which included 60 schools from Milton Keynes and the surrounding area, plus local sports and community groups and representatives from Oldham Athletic and MK Dons Supporters Association.

MK South East MP Dr Phyllis Starkey and Cllr Vanessa McPake were also in the parade around the pitch to reinforce the message to the 10,000-strong crowd at stadiummk.

Rapper judge axed

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

FORMER rap star Coolio has been axed from the judging panel of the Miss MK beauty contest after he was charged with possession of crack cocaine.

The 45-year-old, who starred in Celebrity Big Brother, had agreed to perform and help judge the regional heats of the Miss England competition alongside actors from Hollyoaks and Eastenders on May 30.

But yesterday Miss MK organiser Marie Salim said that she has been forced to cancel his contract following developments in America.

Coolio, whose real name is Artis Leon Ivey Jr, has been charged with possession of crack cocaine and battery following his arrest at Los Angeles International Airport on March 6.

Mrs Salim said: "I spoke to his agent and I made it clear, because of the nature of the competition, it's not the image I want to portray. It's really disappointing."

Dozens of applicants, aged 17 to 24, have been interviewed for Miss MK, with organisers looking for photogenic stars who have good communication skills, confidence and charm.

The winner will be chosen by Hollyoaks pin-up Chris Fountain and ex-Eastenders actor Rani Singh in the final at stadiummk, just three days before Coolio is scheduled to appear in court.

The regional winner will then join other hopefuls to compete for the Miss England 2009 crown.

Motorist spots big cat on main A-road

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A MOTORIST claims to have seen a 'big' cat prowling across a city road.

The driver said he spotted the animal on his commute to work through Old Stratford, at about 4am on Friday.

The traffic operator, who asked to remain anonymous, was driving along the A508 and was about half-a-mile north of Old Stratford roundabout, heading towards Grafton Regis.

He said: "I saw this animal cross the road and there's no way it was a badger or fox.

"It was tall and black and it's tail had a strange bend in it.

"I caught it in my head lights.

"You often see foxes and deer down there but it took us by surprise."

He estimated the animal's height at about 2ft 6ins.

The sighting follows a similar incident in February when two tree surgeons reported seeing a big cat 'the size of a labrador', in a field near Gloucester.

Chris McKirgan, Animal Health Officer at Milton Keynes Council, said: "We've had sightings before but not recently.

"There are enough sightings throughout the country to suggest that there are pumas living out there in the wild.

"It's lambing season now and this time of year I expect to get some calls about lambs being taken."

■ Have you spotted any big cats around Milton Keynes? E-mail letters@mk-news.co.uk

Join a 'better biker' course

MOTORCYCLISTS account for 20 per cent of all fatal or seriously injured casualties on the roads yet make up only one per cent of traffic.

That's why Milton Keynes Council is running free skills courses to teach motorcyclists how to get the best out of their machines and still remain safe.

The council's road safety team will be running three 'Be a Better Biker' training days, on Saturday, April 18 at Bletchley Fire Station, Saturday, June 20 at Great Holm Fire Station and Saturday, September 12 at Bletchley Fire Station.

The courses will consist of a classroom session, followed by an assessed ride on roads where motorbike crashes have happened in the past.

Road safety officer Vince Morley, a qualified advanced motorcyclist with over 25 years' experience, said: "This is the second year of us running the 'Be a Better Biker' courses which proved to be very popular last year.

"The course is not about learning to ride; it's for anyone with a bike licence who would benefit from an assessment of their riding. People can get into bad habits without realising it; normally all it takes is for someone to point out to them what they've been doing wrong and then they can correct it."

Jill Hope and Simon Hughes with the petition for better rail services from London Midland

The next shadow cabinet member will be arriving late

A SHADOW cabinet member has helped launch a local Liberal Democrat campaign to improve rail services.

Simon Hughes MP, Lib Dem shadow secretary of state for energy and climate change and former party president, arrived 30 minutes late on Friday evening after being delayed by train services coming into Milton Keynes Central station.

He met Jill Hope, Lib Dem parliamentary candidate for Milton Keynes North, and local councillors and collected signatures from commuters to call for a better rail service for the city.

The petition will be sent to Lord Adonis, minister of state for the Department for Transport, calling for action to improve London Midland's service to its passengers.

Simon Hughes arrived in Milton Keynes at 6.30pm on Friday on a Virgin train.

The burglary took place on January 4, 2008, at the home of an elderly couple, who are both in their 70s.

At 7.15pm two men wearing balaclavas knocked on the door, in Kennet Drive, Bletchley.

Wielding kitchen knives, the burglars pushed their way in and tied the couple up using tape.

Nine years: Mohammed Akbur Ali

They then searched the house and stole £830 of the couple's savings plus passports, jewellery and a mobile phone.

Ali was arrested by the Metropolitan Police who found the stolen passports in his possession during a routine search in Bethnal Green.

Some of the jewellery was also recovered and Ali was sentenced last Thursday, March 5.

Detective Constable Wendy Fellows said: "This was a terrifying ordeal which lasted for about 15 minutes. Both the victims were left extremely distressed by the incident and have suffered trauma as a result.

"We're very pleased that the sentence reflects the seriousness of the crime committed and the on going effects it has on the victims.

"Hopefully this will mean they will finally be able to put the incident behind them."

EU hours rule could affect firefighters

NEW EU regulations could lead to cuts in fire services and force up council tax bills.

That is the concern of city MP Mark Lancaster, after the European Parliament voted on working hours last week.

If a new EU rule goes ahead, workers' rights to opt-out from the working time rules would be abolished and employers would have to ensure staff work no more than 48-hours-a-week.

'On-call' time in the workplace, even when inactive, would be counted as working time. This will impact upon retained (part-time, professional) fighters, who double up their fire work with other jobs.

Mr Lancaster said: "Retained firefighters do a superb service to our community, helping tackle fires, floods and road accidents. I am very concerned at the effect of these new rules which would cut back workers' rights to work when they choose."

The History behind Mothering Sunday

Mothering Sunday was also known as 'Refreshment Sunday' or 'Mid-Lent Sunday'.
No one is absolutely certain exactly how the idea of Mothering Sunday began. However, it is known that on this day, about four hundred years ago, people made a point of visiting their nearest big church (the Mother Church).
People who visited their mother church would say they had gone "a mothering."
Young British girls and boys 'in service' (maids and servants) were only allowed one day to visit their family each year. This was usually Mothering Sunday. Often the housekeeper or cook would allow the maids to bake a cake to take home for their mother. Sometimes a gift of eggs; or flowers from the garden (or hothouse) was allowed. Flowers were traditional, as the young girls and boys would have to walk home to their village, and could gather them on their way home through the meadows.
We now carry on the tradition of celebrating Mothers Day and these local companies can offer you the best choices in spoiling your mum and showing her how much you care .

MK Council is insulating both the loft space and the walls at the central library – it expects the measures to reduce the use of gas to heat the building by 30 per cent

Library gets thermal wrap

BOOKWORMS are to be better insulated.

Visitors to the city centre library will be cosier than ever thanks to the investment of £22,000 in insulation.

The project, happening now, involves insulating both the loft space and the walls and is funded jointly by Milton Keynes Council and the Government.

The council expects the measures should reduce the use of gas to heat the building by 30 per cent, effectively reducing the running costs by over £3,000 each year.

Martin Davies, carbon manager for the council said: "The council is doing this for several reasons. Firstly it will reduce both utility costs and carbon dioxide emissions. The council has a commitment to reduce these emissions, as part of its efforts to tackle climate change, and this work will contribute towards achieving that goal.

" It is carrying out similar measures, where appropriate, across its estate (around 300-plus buildings) with the most cost effective being carried out first. "Secondly, the council is leading by example and hopes that other organisations and residents will be encouraged to reduce their own costs and emissions by looking at options for their own property."

Council officers will be using thermal imaging to check that the insulation has been installed correctly. The walls should appear cooler as they will be losing heat at a slower rate.

Local residents and businesses looking to maximise energy efficiency can have their properties insulated, and they may be eligible for discounted rates or interest free loans.

■ For domestic queries, phone the energy efficiency helpline on freephone 0800 512012.

■ For local businesses, phone the Carbon Trust helpline on freephone 0800 085 2005.

Care provider awarded

A HOME care provider has been awarded an 'excellent rating' by an independent watchdog.

Home Care Solutions, based at 68 High Street, Newport Pagnell and an approved provider to Milton Keynes Council, has been given the Commission for Social Care Inspection's (CSCI) highest ranking of three stars, following an inspection in January.

The company provides home care services to the elderly and to people who need support at home because of illness or disability.

Care co-ordinator Anne Roberts said the award is down to the hard work and dedication of the staff.

"I'm lucky to work with a fantastic bunch of people, they've all worked so hard for this. We get such lovely letters and cards from clients and their families, it's heart-warming to know what a difference you're making to peoples' lives."

Un-Common School report

PRIORY Common first school has been rated outstanding'by Ofsted.

The education watchdog, which visited the school in Scatterill Close, Bradwell on February 12, has given the school top marks for almost every category in its report, including the teaching and leadership.

The report states that the school, which has 163 pupils, offers a 'broad, interesting and very exciting' curriculum.

Teaching was satisfactory at the last inspection in September 2005 and is now outstanding.

Headteacher Anne Fox said: "This report reflects the commitment of the staff, the hard work of the children and the support from governors and parents. We are really pleased with the outcome but are not complacent and are looking to be even better."

Mobile cop shop still off road

Sherington councillor Sam Potts

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MOBILE police station withdrawn from the rural communities ten months ago has still not returned.

Communities in Sherington and Olney were stripped of the service in May last year because there were no PCSOs available to staff it.

After inquries by this newspaper in August, Thames Valley Police announced that the service would reopen in September when a new PCSO dedicated to the rural communities would be appointed.

Six months later Sherington councillor Sam Potts, who has been highlighting the need for more policing in Milton Keynes' rural villages, is angry that the service has still not returned

"We need it because we have serious crimes in these communities and the culprits are never caught because the police are too far away," he said.

"My residents pay council tax like anyone else and expect a service. I want to see better visible police presence in the rural communities."

A spokesman for Thames Valley Police said that the service will be brought back in April.

"We issued a statement in August last year explaining that the mobile police station was temporarily suspended in May because the member of staff looking after the station was unable to continue," he said.

"PCSO Kirsty Barnes was due to take over the running of the station in September however due to a change in personal circumstances she was unable to take this on. Since then we have been actively looking to recruit a new officer to look after the station and PCSO Matt Wareham will take over in April.

"Our intention was always to recommence the service as soon as we had the resources in place."

The service tours the rural communities to provide advice and reassurance to residents and listen to any concerns or issues they have.

Residents can also contact their neighbourhood police team on 08458 505505.

FILM REVIEW

MARLEY & ME (PG)
NOTHING comes closer to playing it safe for Owen Wilson and Jennifer Aniston than a critic-proof pet movie.

Dog lovers will empathise with just about everything in this family-friendly flick

This mish-mash of a movie sometimes struggles to actually know what it wants to be, starting as a comedy, hinting at a 'The Break Up' style darker middle, then turning into a dramatic weapy during the final third.

The movie chronicles the fledgling marriage of journalists John Grogan and Jen as the hubbie buys his wife a Labrador pup called Marley to put the impending temptation to "try for kids" on the backburner.

But due to their busy newspaper column careers spiralling upwards, the couple have bitten off more than they can chew.

Further down the line, when the couple finally start their offspring, things turn sour as the misbehaving mutt makes life unbearable for the new mom, with two (then a third) screaming kids to handle as well.

But through years, the now infamous Marley proves to be one constant part of their lives.

In fact, the tad overlong Marley & Me proves to have the similar ups and downs as the couple, but despite some unnecessary sentimentality, an underdeveloped splitting up subplot, and a sweet ending, Wilson and one-trick pony Aniston coast through to make this watchable fare.

WET BLETCHLEY CARNIVAL

The Essex Dog Display Team will entertain at this year's West Bletchley Carnival

Want to be a carnival King or Queen?

Do you have the 'Carnival Factor'?

Have you ever been to West Bletchley Carnival – THE most spectacular event in the Milton Keynes calendar – and said: "I would like to be a part of that?" Well, now is your chance.

For the first time EVER West Bletchley Council is looking for a Carnival King & Queen.

One of your duties on the day will be to choose the Best Parade Entry, Best Independent and the Most Original Entry.

You will then be escorted to Rickley Park to officially assist in the opening of the 8th West Bletchley Carnival on June 6 which is ,once again, supported by MK NEWS.

After being entertained by Royal Artillery motorbikes and looking skywards for the parachute display team the King & Queen will be in good company with the exciting and educational Essex Dog Display Team - the only civilian dog display team ever to be selected to appear at The Royal Tournament in front of the of The Queen & Prince Phillip.

After a full day of activities, the King and Queen will be treated to a meal for two at The Swan, Buckingham Road.

The Carnival King an Queen will be crowned at the Carnival Dance – a new addition to the West Bletchley Carnival celebration, on Friday, May 29.

The dance is in aid of this year's nominated charity, Bletchley Park Trust.

The glittering event is being held at Wilton Hall, Bletchley. Everyone is welcome to come along and enjoy the three-course buffet meal including unlimited visits to a chocolate fountain and lots of fun entertainment including a charity raffle and bingo.

The man responsible for getting us all up dancing will be Heart FM's DJ Jim Hellier. Ladies will be expected to dress to impress and gentleman in lounge suits. Tickets cost £25 from Paul Neate, community projects officer 01908 634033 or e-mail carnival@westbletchley-council.gov.uk

■ To enter for the Carnival King and Queen send a post card to: Carnival Competition, 1 Porchester Close, Bletchley, MK3 6FF stating in no more than 30 words why YOU should be chosen. Alternately, you can nominate someone or a couple who you think deserve to be 'stars' for the day.

WINNERS of the Band Blitz 2008, Acacia Close have been busy writing and recording some new material since the big at The Pitz. Fresh from last week's opening for Protest the Hero, this is their first headline show.

A mix of big technical modern metal riffs and passionate raw rock music will insure a great night.

Heart Of A Coward are a new five piece, alternative metal groove. Formed only a few months ago Heart of a Coward have already played alongside the likes of Your Demise, Fell Silent, 1000 Hertz and many more to come.

THE STABLES 280800

JULIET TURNER

Thursday, March 19. 8pm

TONIGHT Juliet joins us as she tours her long-awaited fourth studio album, People Have Names.

Her songs are both taut and spacious, with exquisite vocals and lyrical themes that explore life's sweet and bitter moments – romance, loneliness and the contradictions of youth and age.

Juliet is a natural at encapsulating a marriage between folk and the singer-songwriter genre, and her 2004 album Season of The Hurricane was a tour-de-force of its kind.

MOYA BRENNAN

Tuesday, March 24, 8pm

TIMELESS, eternal and carried heavenwards in a soulful breath, Moya's voice reaches out to the farthest places but still touches the soul.

With a career spanning decades as the voice of Clannad, she has recorded more than 25 albums and sold over 20 million records.

Winning Ivor Novello and BAFTA awards and receiving Grammy nominations with Clannad, Moya's voice has taken the Irish language and traditional music to centre stage all over the world.

Tickets £22.50

THE HOUNDS OF LOVE BAND

Thursday, March 26. 8pm

THE Hounds of Love Band are a group of musicians, fronted by vocalist Josie Mills, who love, appreciate and replicate the work of Kate Bush.

This is no mere pastiche as the band makes the songs their own. Without attempting to emulate Kate Bush's sound, Josie – whose voice bears a strong similarity to Judi Tzuke's – sings Kate's weird, beautiful and often otherworldly songs with an impassioned sympathy that does the material great justice.

Not so much a covers band, more a rare chance to explore the repertoire of one of this country's greatest living musicians.

Win and ski on Wii

IF you fancy the experience of skiing down the slopes in the comfort of your own home, look no further than a new game.

MK NEWS has teamed up with Atari UK to offer a copy of the new Wii Family Ski and Snowboard games - and a Wii to play it on.

The Wii Ski Resort team will be at Xscape on March 22, giving away exclusive goodies and holding competitions on the game, so visitors have a chance to step onto the balance board.

For adrenaline junkie skiers and boarders there are half-pipe courses and technique challenges, whilst more chilled out players can go to ski school, board school, slalom or animal rescue.

It is the sequel to the popular Family Ski and is fully compatible with the Wii Balance Board. The game has two new mountains for riders to test out their skills.

MK NEWS has two consoles and two games to give away.

HOW TO ENTER

TO stand a chance of winning the Wii and game, just answer this simple question: How many new mountains can riders test their skills on?

Send your answers to jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk or write to 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes, MK150DU, marking your answer Wii Competition.

Closing date March 25.

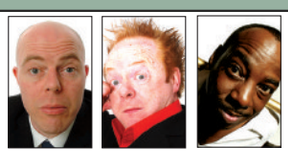
THE COMEDY CLUB @ CITY LIMITS

Xscape, MK

Thursday, March 26

GET ready for another bout of rib-tickling fun at this popular resident comedy club

The MC for the night is Roger Monkhouse, left, one of the most intellectual comics in the business, Roger oozes class with every syllable he utters, be it a wry observation or a witty oneliner, all delivered with a laconic, urbane Surrey posh accent, that has not been crushed by far too many years living in the north of the country.



Opening the show is Brtian Higgins, centre. His enthusiasm and energy is second to none and this Scottish, ginger haired comic certainly has a few things to say for himself.

The headline act is Rudi Lickwood, right. As the top black comedian on the UK comedy circuit, Rudi is far more than just a stand-up. With a super confident playful personality and charisma, his infectious charm has made him a desirable commodity for radio and television including warm-ups for the National Lottery Jetset, Top Gear and the Weakest Link.

Waitress servic, candle-lit tables, joke competition with prizes.

Tickets £13, Members £11. Over 18s. Doors open 7.30pm. Showime 8.30pm

POTTER'S ART

Former college pottery tutor back with exhibition

PETER Cosentino returns to Milton Keynes to exhibit his individual ceramics at the new University College Milton Keynes Gallery during March and April after an absence of almost 15 years.

Peter was employed at Milton Keynes College, on the Bletchley campus from 1981 until 1994.

During the 1980s Peter was instrumental in introducing the first full time courses in art and design at Milton Keynes College as well producing his own pottery and writing books on pottery too.

The solo show includes over 60 pieces of new work which have been produced especially for this exhibition.

Having taken early retirement as assistant principal at Rugby College three years ago, Peter is now producing ceramics on a full time basis. His ceramics which are inspired by natural forms and patterns found in nature also include a range of crystalline glazed bottles, the surface of which has intriguing 'frost-like' patterns, produced during a complex firing process.

The exhibition continues until April 30.

TELEVISION WEEK

NEW series of documentaries charting remarkable tales of human experience begins tonight with Extraordinary People: The World's Oldest Conjoined Twins, Wednesday, FIVE, 9pm.

The first episode profiles Ronnie and Donnie Galyon, who have been joined at the chest and have shared a lower digestive system since their birth in 1951, making them the oldest conjoined twins in the world. Cameras follow the brothers as they try to fulfil a lifelong dream of watching their favourite American football team, the Dallas Cowboys, play.

Staying with dreams, Building the Olympic Dream, Wednesday, 9pm BBC2 follows the preparations for the 2012 Olympics. With more than £9billion to spend on creating an Olympic Park, London's 2012 bosses are facing tough issues - from land decontamination and stadium design to searching for a cat called Blackjack – all conducted under the media spotlight.

For those of you gripped by such things, the final of Dancing on Ice takes place on Sunday, 6.55pm, ITV1.

The final three couples will be battling it out in the hope of succeeding last year's winner Suzanne Shaw.

They all perform acts that include a flying technique, followed by their favourite routine from the series. One pair are eliminated, leaving two pairs in the final skate-off facing the ultimate challenge – the Bolero, which Torvill and Dean will also present in a new interpretation for its 25th anniversary year.

To round off the weekend there is a new series featuring Radio One DJ Chris Moyles.

His self titled quiz night, Sunday, Channel 4, 10pm, is a weekly topical entertainment show in which he is joined by three celebrity guests to compete for a prize donated by the broadcaster himself.

This week's contestants are music producer and performer Mark Ronson, music manager Louis Walsh and actor Barbara Windsor, with quiz mistress Sharon Osbourne.

FALLING DOWN

Oasis

IN itself, Falling Down is one of Oasis's better singles.

It's a bit downbeat, Noel sings it, and there's always something driving the tune along.

However, Falling Down runs for about four-and-a-half minutes, and that's fine, but some chaps calling themselves Amorphous Androgynous have managed to stretch it out to five times its original length.

Now, if you're an Oasis fan you'll probably be cock-a-hoop about that but is it actually worth it for the rest of us?

We sent our intrepid reporter to find out. Well, that was the plan but unfortunately he was busy so muggins here did it instead.

On the face of it then, one song running for the business end of half-an-hour shouldn't really work, whether or not it's a remix.

Somewhere in my record collection is New Order's Video 5-8-6 which, oddly enough, has an identical running time but there are times when it sounds as though it's desperately trying to limp towards the finish.

In its defence, it was designed purely as background music for the opening of The Hacienda – this song has no such excuses – it's designed to be listened to properly so it can't afford to flag at any stage.

Here's what they've done, then. They've given the mix an overall theme. It's psychedelic, trippy, dreamy, a bit weird and it's pieced together with the same sort of care and attention you'd associate with people who take years to restore public monuments to their former glory.

They've also taken the wise decision of splitting the song up into several movements to stop it droning on and on.

So, the first movement is basically the song as is and after three minutes it all goes a bit weird for while - you get lots of echo effects, a bit of bass, a smidgen of birdsong, just under your recommended daily allowance of harmonica, and all that takes us up to 5:40 and one more blast of the chorus for old time's sake before it all goes mental again.

Calm is only very gradually restored but when it is, the tune trundles along quite nicely for a while.

At the 10:30 point, the song stops completely and we get a child delivering a monologue, followed by a piano, followed by some more echo effects, followed by a build-up, and this is the part where Oasis out-Air Air. Very atmospheric, this bit, I can imagine somebody using this segment in a romantic comedy for the scenes just after the two stars have Broken Up Forever and they're wandering around separately wondering where it all went wrong.

One of them'll probably be out in the rain crying too I shouldn't wonder, but I digress.

We're now at 13:30, and back comes the original song, now being sung by somebody who isn't Noel Gallagher. Or Liam. Or anyone I know, actually.

Noel's in the background though, which is odd because it sounds like Oasis playing a cover version of their own material.

Then, finally, we get the big finish the song deserves and it goes out in some style. In fact, this remix is so good it should be played to any purists who think songs should be left alone when they've been recorded, because this one's transformed a good Oasis song into something little short of magnificent.

It's respected the original, but it's built on it and then some.

Mind you, it shows how strong the original was that it can support a remix like this, so well done all concerned.

Mortgage Advice Bureau

Why rent when you can buy?

Many First time buyers believe they cannot afford to buy - but it is realistic in today's market that you can own a property at a similar cost to renting.

If you are currently renting at the moment paying circa £450 per month in rent, you could buy a property worth £95,000 for £436 per month - based on a 5 year fixed rate mortgage at 6.59%, with a 10% deposit.

Followed by the lender's standard variable rate, currently 4.5%, for the remainder of the mortgage term. The overall cost for comparison is 4.8%. The actual rate available will depend upon your circumstances. Ask for a personalised illustration.

Mixing sport, business and pleasure in hunt for gold

ONE city business is putting its backing behind badminton in the run up to the 2012 Olympic Games.

Home Retail Group employee and former professional Paul Trueman helps serve key business solutions for Badminton England

Paul, once ranked in the top 30 badminton players in the world, has found the perfect way to mix business with pleasure through the British Olympic Association's (BOA) request for support from FTSE 100 companies.

The 28-year-old from Deanshanger near Stony Stratford, now works for Home Retail Group, owner of Argos and Homebase.

Paul is one of a select group of colleagues, offering their professional skills to support and strengthen Badminton England in the fields of HR, finance and IT.

The sport has its national headquarters in Loughton Lodge and one of its former stars, Olympic mixed doubles silver medallist Gail Emms, lives in the city.

The partnership's aim is to offer support to ensure the organisation is operating to its full potential as it prepares for the current and next generation of athletes to compete in major championships and international sporting events during the journey to 2012.

Paul has witnessed the on and off court progress made first-hand since he moved to Milton Keynes, living in the National Badminton Centre's player accommodation while receiving the top level coaching that built up his professional badminton career.

Paul chose to retire from the professional game three years ago and successfully applied for a role in the Home Retail finance department.

Since then he has been promoted within the company and is now enjoying his new role as an Argos multichannel commercial analyst.

Paul, who has coached England youth internationals said: "After playing badminton for over 15 years, the majority of which was at international level, you come into contact with lots of people who help support your career.

"Working for Home Retail Group and being involved in this partnership has now given me the opportunity to put something extra back into the sport and help to grow badminton's commercial future."

Paul Trueman support and strengthen Badminton England in the fields of HR, finance and IT

Two-year dip predicted by consultants

MK-BASED SummitSkills, the Sector Skills Council for building services engineering (BSE), has published research that highlights the possible effects of the recession on the sector's workforce.

In 'potential impact of the recession on the building services engineering sector in 2009', a sample of BSE consultants were interviewed to gather views on the recent economic downturn and how it may affect the sector's workload across five key work areas: private commercial; private industrial; private housing; social housing and major public works.

Over the last five years consultant workforce numbers have increased and 66 per cent had increased their practice size.

A similar percentage (64 per cent) expect their workforce to expand further over five years to 2015.

The majority of consultants expect the current recession to last two years until the end of 2010.

There are estimates that between 10.4 per cent (in the social housing sector) and 55.75 per cent (private housing) of work may be postponed or cancelled as a result of the recession.

This may lead to anywhere between 67,000 and 154,000 jobs being at risk in the contracting industry should this predicted loss of work be realised.

These predictions are in line with recent Office for National Statistics figures.

Keith Marshall OBE, chief executive of SummitSkills, said: "Our estimates are based on assumptions that can be influenced by numerous variables, but it's inevitable that businesses will be, and have already been, affected by the recession."

The Fox Milne-based business is already working to help minimise the impact the recession might have on the sector's workforce and skills levels.

MK door company supports junior rugby with shirt deal

A JUNIOR rugby team now has brand new shirts to play in thanks to the support of a well known Milton Keynes company.

Stanair Industrial Door Services, a specialist industrial door installation and repair company, has become a major shirt sponsor of Milton Keynes Rugby Union Football Club's under 11 team.

Bradville-based Stanair have committed to supporting the team, who play competitive rugby and train twice a week, throughout the year.

Milton Keynes depot manager Wayne Thompson said: "Stanair is highly committed to the local community, and we believe we can make the biggest difference getting involved at a grass roots level.

"The players in the Under 11s team of Milton Keynes RUFC have a bright future ahead of them, and we're glad to help where we can."

Millions of staff still putting in unpaid overtime

MILLIONS of workers are still putting in more than seven hours of unpaid overtime every week despite a long-running campaign to tackle the UK's long hours culture, according to a recent report.

The TUC said staff in research and development, finance and public administration such as central and local government, had see n the biggest increase in unpaid overtime since the recession started.

Around five million people were now working an average of seven hours six minutes of unpaid overtime every week, a similar number to last year said the union organisation.

The state of the economy had led to a fall in unpaid overtime for some workers including those in agriculture, insurance and pensions.

General secretary Brendan Barber said: "The recession is bringing new pressure for people to work unpaid overtime.

"Workers in some industries are racking up the hours to complete the job quicker. But elsewhere work is drying up and workers do not have enough work to fill normal hours, let alone overtime.

"Not all unpaid overtime is useful work helping to overcome the recession.

"Whe people understandably fear for their jobs employers still have a responsibility to organise work properly and ensure their workplaces don't get gripped by a long hours culture."

Insurance intermediary smashes charity target

AN insurance intermediary company has helped to smash a fundraising target of £1 million.

Towergate Risk Solutions, based in Milton Keynes, is bucking the national downturn, in one year raising money to help Cancer Research, Great Ormond Street, Help the Hospices and the NSPCC alongside the country's other branches.

Towergate Risk Solutions Milton Keynes is part of Towergate, Europe's largest independently owned insurance intermediary which has worked together with clients, colleagues and customers to raise this staggering amount for the four charities.

Graham Smith, managing director of Towergate Risk Solutions in Milton Keynes, said: "I wish to thank my colleagues and our clients for their outstanding contribution to these great charities.

"We do it because we are in a position to assist a great number of people who need help, and because it is simply the right thing to do."

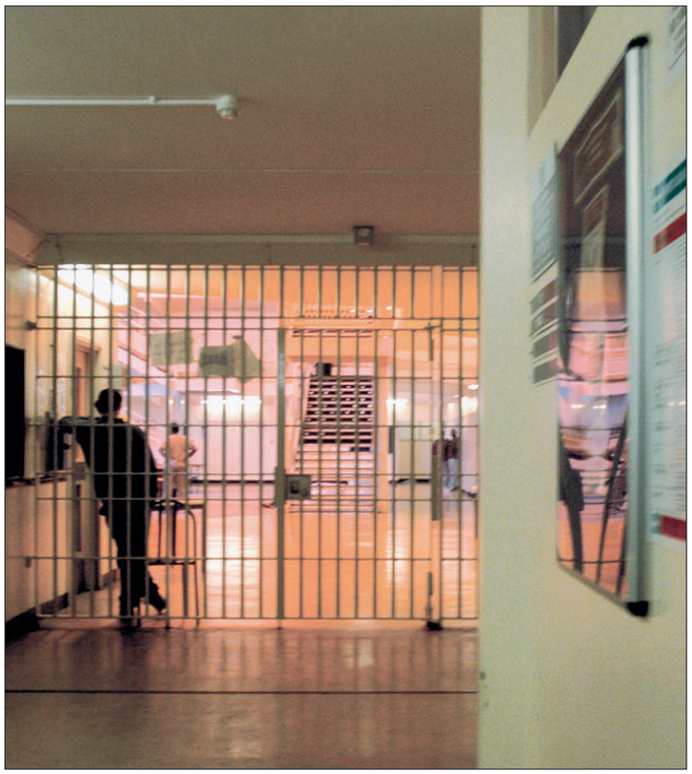
Working at Woodhill offers job security



ARE you looking for a change of career? If so have you ever thought about working at a prison?

Unless you know someone who's been part of the HMP Woodhill staff, the chances are you won't have heard about what working life is like inside this particular prison.

Unlike some of the older prison establishments, HMP Woodhill is clean and well-ventilated with light, airy offices, and even a staff canteen.

The high security prison caters for the needs of a range of offenders and everyone on the staff is part of the Ministry of Justice 'family' who help to reduce the risk of reoffending.

In essence, they're all vital to the safety of the public.

Operational Support Grades are no exception.

They can be involved in anything from searching staff and managing CCTV cameras to accompanying contractors on and off the premises or escorting prisoners to court.

They're no less crucial to the safe running of the prison than the Prison Officers.

There are currently some 123 Operational Support Grade staff.

Their career begins with a week-long induction along with other new starters so that they can start to lean about the implications of a high security environment, what's expected of them in the job and how they'll be managed.

Later on there's a four-module development course that, for some people, could be the groundwork for a future role as a Prison Officer.

Whether individuals move on or not, an impressive range of training aligned to Investor in People helps them improve their skills, learn new ones and even gain an NVQ in Custodial Care.

There's strong colleague support, and official support groups for gay and lesbian staff, BMEs and those who are pregnant or on maternity leave. Beyond that, staff enjoy non-contributory pension, local pay allowance, access to gym facilities, and free uniform so they save on work wear costs.

Perhaps one of the best benefits in these economically troubled times is the job security.

It's perhaps not a career path that people would automatically think of, but for those who do, it looks bright on the inside.

Operational Support Grades can be involved in anything from searching staff and managing CCTV cameras to accompanying contractors on and off the premises or escorting prisoners to court

HMP WOODHILL >

HM PRISON SERVICE
Public Sector Prisons

EXTRAORDINARY JOBS.
EXTRAORDINARY WORKPLACE.

OPERATIONAL SECURITY TEAM
£15,092 - £17,754 PLUS £2,600 LOCAL PAY ALLOWANCE

It isn't just Prison Officers who keep HMP Woodhill safe and secure. A large support team has a vital part to play too.

The category A prison opened in 1992 and has a close supervision centre to hold a small number of difficult and disruptive prisoners. Naturally the whole place needs to run smoothly, so Operational Support Grades are there to provide support such as escorting prisoners to and from court and managing the CCTV camera set-up.

You'll be given full training, from an initial induction week to a specialist training course further down the line to prepare for opportunities to move into a Prison Officer role. As long as you're enthusiastic and good-humoured, and have well-developed interpersonal and communication skills, you can look forward to benefits that include non-contributory pension, staff canteen and access to gym facilities.

Part-time and job sharing hours may be available, while for a full-time role you should be willing to work shifts.

For further information and an application pack, please visit www.hmprisonservice.gov.uk or alternatively contact the Kent, Sussex & South Central Recruitment Team, 21A Bierton Road, Aylesbury, Bucks HP20 1EN. Email: south-central-area-recruitment@hmps.gsi.gov.uk Tel: 01296 442673. Fax: 01296 442638.

The closing date for receipt of completed applications is 3 April 2009.

Applicants will be required to declare whether they are a member of a group or organisation, which the Prison Service considers to be racist.

Part-time working or job sharing will be considered.

The Prison Service is an equal opportunities employer. We welcome applications from candidates regardless of ethnic origin, religious belief, gender, age (subject to being within the normal retirement age for the grade), sexual orientation, disability or any other irrelevant factor.

TAYLORS Estate Agents

Ever considered a career as a mortgage consultant or estate agency negotiator?

I did....

Until a few years ago I was working in a dead end job with no career prospects.
I knew I was selling myself short and could do so much more and just needed the right opportunity and a push in the right direction.
Then I saw an advert for Mortgage Consultants with Taylors, so I applied. They said I would receive comprehensive training and earn more money.
I did. I now earn in excess of £35,000 per annum.
They said I would have a structured career. I have. I now know exactly where I am and what I have to do to achieve my next grade. They also said I would receive a company car which I did, alongside a yearly bonus scheme.
The hours are long and the job is challenging but that is what I love about it, especially exceeding my targets. I like dealing with people and enjoy the rewards the role brings. I am still learning every day in the job.

If you have a minimum of 4 GCSE's at Grade 'C' or above including Maths & English and you are interested in developing a career to match Gareths achievements, telephone: 01908 563825 for an information pack stating which position you are applying for.

So did I....

Like Gareth above, I too was working in a job that I felt was going nowhere.
What I wanted was a career and a chance to use my skills in a position that suited my natural attributes.
I am a confident, hard-working, competitive person and I enjoy dealing with the public, which perfectly suits the role I am in now.

Since starting with Taylors as an Estate Agency Negotiator 3 years ago, I have listened and learned lots from those around me who have been successful.

This has helped me achieve promotion twice and I now run the companies newest office in the Westcroft district, looking after the whole of the Western side of Milton Keynes' busy housing market.

This is a fantastic opportunity for me and I am enjoying every day in my role as Manager, developing other Negotiators to follow the same path I did.

If you are interested in forging a career like Toms, then call: 01908 563825 for an information pack stating which position you are applying for.

THRASHING, drubbing, whipping, call it what you like the important thing for MK Dons was a return to winning ways.

Oldham were left battered, bruised and with manager John Sheridan sacked after letting a lead slip twice to finish up humiliated in a 6-2 defeat.

The Dons equalled their best result under Roberto Di Matteo and set a new club record as it was the first time they have hit a team for six.

"It was about time one team got a spanking off us," said double goalscorer Sam Baldock pretty much summing up what fans had also been thinking.

Making the result all the more impressive, other than beating a side also looking for promotion, was the Dons had to do it the hard way coming back from Kevin Maher's perfect free-kick and a Lee Hughes header.

Aaron Wilbraham pulled the Dons level before Jason Puncheon had a stunning reply to Oldham's second.

The midfielder showed a touch of genius when he spotted error-prone Jan Budzt on the floor out of his area, after making a complete mess of a clearance, and sent the ball dipping into the net from 40-yards.

Boss Roberto Di Matteo proved he was a hard man to impress when speaking of the goal that took the game to 2-2 at half time, he said: "It was about time he scored a goal, he's been a bit unlucky lately."

In the next 45 minutes the Dons took their reigns off and took the game to Oldham, something the Latics failed to cope with.

Baldock's partnership with Wilbraham up front paid dividends when the striker, who turned 20 on Sunday, netted twice in five minutes.

Baldock, who scored his first goal in almost three months against Huddersfield last week, then admitted his goal drought had begun to play on his mind.

He said: "I think it's impossible to say that a striker wouldn't be affected by it. I think I've kept going, kept my head down, kept focusing and I knew they'd come again."

Alan Navarro chipped in with his first of the season and Ali Gerba, on as a sub, claimed the sixth goal in injury time although it is one the dubious goals panel might want to look at.

Gerba struck the post and it rebounded in off Budtz's leg just to make the keeper's day even worse.

Sheridan paid a heavy price for the result when he was handed his P45 by Oldham in the morning while Di Matteo was left delighted to see his team come out on top in the eight goal thriller.

He added: "Very happy with the result, very happy with the performance of the team. I thought we created a lot of chances today which means the team's healthy, we've been playing well lately but it was just a matter of scoring goals."

DONS appear to have missed out to Colchester United on the signing of Ashley Vincent.

MK NEWS revealed on it's website last week that boss Roberto Di Matteo was interested in the services of the Cheltenham midfielder.

He said: "Yes, we're looking at him. I don't want to talk about that because we're nowhere near any deals at the moment.

"We are looking at a few players mainly for next season, because obviously there are some players who are out of contract here, some don't want to stay or maybe have different plans so we'll have to look to get some players for the summer."

But Cheltenham boss Martin Allen believes Vincent is set to seal a switch to the Us.

MK Dons academy are holding open trials for boys in the age groups under 8 through to under 16s.

The trials will take place over four dates in April in a bid to recruit any promising players to the Dons' academy and elite centres.

They will be held at MK Wanderers' Kents Hill Playing Fields ground on April 6,7,14, 15.

Players wishing to take part in the trials need to register 48 hours before their chosen trial and can do so by downloading the application form at www.mkdons.com

FRESH on the back of a 5-0 thrashing by Brighton the Glovers are desperately fighting to avoid relegation but the signs don't look good.

They haven't won in seven, conceding nineteen goals and scored just three, with their last two results reading 5-0 and 4-0.

Player-manager Terry Skiverton is discovering life in charge is hard going as he awaits his first win after six games at the helm.

The defender recently returned to the starting line-up following injury, which leaves assistant boss Nathan Jones working on the sidelines.

Glovers' goalie Josh Wagenaar and Jonathan Worthington are suspended for the Dons' visit.

CREWE are one of League One's in-form sides – The Railwaymen have begun to claw themselves to safety after a great run of form.

Since Steve Holland's dismissal new boss Gudjon Thordarson has helped Crewe climb out of relegation zone and they could miss the drop.

Earlier in the season the two sides played out a 2-2 draw, it was the first time the Dons had shared points under Roberto Di Matteo's guidance.

It is the second of three games in hand the Dons have held over most of their promotion rivals.

And they will need a positive result if they are to take full advantage of their extra games.

7s-up for Lightning

SLOUGH JETS 1

MK LIGHTNING 7
TELFORD TIGERS 0

MK Lightning were in seventh heaven at the weekend.

Another storming couple of days saw them put seven goals past Slough Jets, then seven again past Telford Tigers and they managed to concede only once as they collected four points.

The only downside for Lightning was the news that Peterborough Phantoms also recorded two wins.

It means Lightning's chances of snatching the English Premier League title are now extremely thin but they are pushing the Phantoms all the way.

The writing was on the wall for Slough when Lightning scored with a minute on the clock.

Nick Poole found the net on 1.04minutes and then turned into the provide four minutes later when Andre Smulter added a second.

Slough's Michael Bowman pulled his side back into the game with a strike midway through the first quarter but it was Lightning who had the final say with another goal this time from Lukas Zatopek three minutes before the break.

While there may have been four goals in the first, the second quarter was much closer with neither side able to add to the score line.

However, Lightning hit their purple patch in the final period with four strikes.

Gary Clarke netted 38 seconds into the restart the Chris McEwen finished a move by Smulter and Clarke to give Lightning a 5-1 lead.

Smiles all round as Gary Clarke hits four goal against Telford Pic Jez Tibbetts

Matt Towalski added a sixth before the final goal came from Adam Carr with the move started by net minder Barry Hollyhead.

The home game against Telford proved to be one way traffic as the visitors failed to break Lightning's defence.

Man of the match Clarke was in superb form netting a second period hat-trick as well as opening the scoring on the night.

Clarke found an early break through with help from Joakim Wiklander and Zatopek.

Smulter and Zatopek extended Lightning's advantage to three goals with 7.08 on the clock signalling to Telford it would be a hard game.

A storming second period left Telford looking for the exit doors when another four goals went in favour of Lightning.

Carr grabbed his first of the evening on 20.28 then Clarke hit three in ten minutes to take his goal tally to four for the night.

Lightning eased off in the final quarter with the knowledge that four points were already in the bag.

■ LIGHTNING are at home to Guildford Flames on Saturday, face-off 7pm at Planet Ice, on Sunday they travel to Romford Raiders, face-off 5.15pm.

THIRTEEN proved to be a lucky number for MK Lions as the margin saw them leapfrog over Cheshire Jets into seventh position in the BBL Championship.

Ahead of the game Vince Macaulay questioned the commitment of his players as a place in the play-offs appeared to be falling through their hands.

But his Lions squad gave the perfect response racking up 100 points with every player getting on the score board.

The Lions were the stronger side from the offset and enjoyed a 9-2 start to the game.

The Rocks then began to find their stride as both teams exchanged baskets for the remainder of the half.

Lions maintained their lead to go in at half-time 52-41 in front.

In the second half the Rocks opened with a burst of unanswered points to trim the deficit to three points at 52-49. The Rocks continued to show resilience at both ends of the floor and a 15-6 tear for the visitors, including eight points from Chi Lewis-Parry, tied the game up at 66-66 with less than a minute remaining in the period.

A Tommie Eddie basket with thirteen seconds remaining for the Lions gave the home side a slender two-point advantage at 68-66 going into the final stanza.

Simon Emmerson came off the bench to nail a couple of three pointers in the final stretch.

Then three pointers from Rob Youngblood and Simon Emmerson instigated a 17-6 tear for the Lions to take the score out to 85-72 midway through the final quarter.

The Rocks tried valiantly to get themselves back into the game, but the Lions were able to secure the victory from the foul-line.

■ LIONS travel to Everton Tigers on Friday, tip-off at 7.30pm, and on Sunday they host Newcastle Eagles at Bletchley Leisure Centre, tip-off 4pm.

Table-toppers route Olney

SOUTH WEST TWO EAST DIVISION

ON the back of two victories Olney were beaten at home to top-of-the-table Reading.

Olney were 14-3 up early in the game but lost out by a massive 19-63 margin.

Scott Filler scored Olney's first try which was converted by Dave Smith before Reading got on the score sheet with a penalty.

The next try came from a Reading line out which was won by Olney and spun out to the backs with Will Edwards crossing the line. Another conversion from Smith extended their lead to 14-3.

Then Reading began to come into the game with a penalty and three tries giving them a 14-27 advantage at half-time.

A storming start to the second half all but ended Olney's chances as the visitors crossed the line three times with conversions.

Reading had a player sin binned which allowed Olney to come back with a try from James Padfield but Reading responded with another seven points.

Olney's Mark Lay was received a yellow card late on and a final penalty for Reading finished the game.

A WEEK after withdrawing a team due to injury Bletchley lost to Henley Wanderers.

In a close game Henley Wanderers came out on top with an 18-15 victory.

It was an important game for the bottom two teams in the league and Bletchley are now in danger of finding themselves at the foot of the table.

Bletchley are just one point clear of Henley.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES NORTH

MILTON Keynes' hopes of winning the Southern Counties North division look bleak after defeat to Chipping Norton.

It is the third time MK have lost a game in the league and it was a costly one as they slipped further behind leaders Buckingham.

MK are now third, six points behind Buckingham but they do have a game in hand.

Daniel Pearson ran in two tries for MK and Stuart Tomkinson also crossed the line but it wasn't enough to prevent a 39-25 defeat.

Dons rolled over

MK DONS 0
MILLWALL 1

BY SIMONE CORGAN

Jason Puncheon ghosts past Tony Craig before beating keeper David Forde but firing wide in the first half last night

MK Dons threw away one of their games in hand last night to further increase Peterborough's grip on an automatic promotion place.

Dons had the chance to narrow the gap between themselves and second-placed Peterborough to two points but another poorly marked free-kick cost them three points.

It means Millwall are level with the Dons who now need to make their remaining two games in hand count if they are to push back into the top two.

A frustrating evening for the Dons as they controlled things up until Marc Laird's header on the 20th minute, then they were left to scrap and tussle as Millwall put an end to Roberto Di Matteo's side's run of eight games unbeaten.

Dons enjoyed much of the early possession although Millwall looked keen not to see a repeat of the 4-0 drubbing they had suffered earlier in the season at the New Den.

But the Lions' defence looked fragile and the Dons went close to scoring three times in the space of three minutes.

Jason Puncheon dragged a low effort wide, then Jemal Johnson had Tony Craig beaten on the right and keeper David Forde was goaded off his line but the winger failed to finish his good work with an off-target effort.

Aaron Wilbraham also had a tame overhead volley saved by Forde.

In contrast Millwall had barely called upon Willy Gueret in the first quarter of an hour, but they were the ones to break the deadlock.

James Henry's free-kick at the right of the box evaded a static Dons defence and Laird rose to plant his header into the net.

Yet another goal conceded from a set-piece will no doubt raise questions of the Dons' concentration levels.

Wilbraham was inches away from a leveller on the 25th minute when his outstretched foot couldn't quite meet Johnson's cross into the box.

The goal against the run of play clearly lifted the Lions but it was the Dons who were continuing to create chances.

Again Puncheon was making great runs and found himself on the end of a Wilbraham nod-down yet his strike curled the wrong side of the post.

It was Puncheon who thought he had equalised nine minutes before the break when he planted an on-the-turn shot past Forde, only to see the linesman's flag raised for offside.

Millwall coped with Wilbraham's aerial threat, stopping one of the Dons' attacking options forced the striker into a deeper role which was clearly frustrating him.

Puncheon, Chadwick and Alan Navarro all called on Forde although the three efforts were from a similar central position and failed to trouble the Lions goalie.

As they eyed up a way to return to level terms the Dons started to play a risky game as they became sloppy in their possession.

Puncheon was robbed of the ball inside the Millwall half and it resulted in the visitors flooding the Dons' box.

Luckily for the home side Laird was unable to take advantage of a clear route to goal when he misfired then a last-gasp block denied Adam Boulder.

Substitute Daniel Powell had a glorious chance when Millwall failed to clear a corner, he blasted an effort from inside the box into the net, unfortunately for him it was the side netting.

Nine minutes from time Wilbraham was enraged when he though Craig unfairly brought him down in the area. The referee saw it differently and booked the front man for diving.

Dons fans voiced their displeasure when Ali Gerba wasted a late opportunity when his strike ended nearer the corner flag than the goal mouth.

Like the chance, the three points for the Dons had disappeared.
